2 Data Controller

Stora Enso Oyj and its subsidiaries are joint data controllers in respect of the personal data which they jointly process and share. Stora Enso Oyj and its subsidiaries share the data controller’s obligations and responsibilities between each other as they deem appropriate based on the relevant circumstances. In general, Stora Enso Oyj is responsible for (i) the functionality and security of the IT systems, (ii) data privacy and IT policies, guidelines and instructions for the group, and (iii) that global personal data systems and registers are compliant with applicable privacy laws, while the subsidiaries for their part are responsible for (i) the validity, accuracy and completeness of the personal data within the systems, and (ii) ensuring that local personal data registers, systems and processes are in compliance with applicable local and EU laws. More information on Stora Enso’s subsidiaries and jointly controlling entities can be found here.

Regardless of the applicable data controller in each situation, you can always use your rights by contacting Stora Enso Oyj:
Legal basis and Purposes of Personal Data Processing

In many cases the suppliers and other stakeholders of the Stora Enso group are legal entities and not natural persons. However, in order to establish and maintain a supplier relationship, processing of personal data of you, representing and working for the supplier companies and other legal entities, is inevitable. Stora Enso may also collect personal data of you as a representative of a potential supplier. In some situations, the relationship is directly between Stora Enso and you.

The legal grounds for processing personal data are either fulfilment of an agreement concluded between a Stora Enso group company and you, legal obligation, the legitimate interest of Stora Enso or your consent.

Providing certain personal data to Stora Enso is necessary in order for Stora Enso to be able to conclude an agreement with you. If you refuse to give this personal data, Stora Enso may not be able to establish or continue the business relationship.

In certain cases, Stora Enso has a legal requirement to collect certain information of its suppliers and other stakeholders and their representatives. These situations relate e.g. to anti-money laundering and counter terrorism regulation, market abuse regulation, compliance breach reporting, reviewing of sanctions and other similar official lists and auditing.

Processing or personal data based on a legitimate interests applies when it concerns establishing, managing and developing Stora Enso's relationship (including concluding and managing contracts and agreements with organisations that you are representing), with activities related to marketing, purchasing and communications with Stora Enso's business partners and stakeholders. Stora Enso may use personal data to enable fulfilment of contracts, delivery management, invoicing and other transactions. The supplier and stakeholder data can also be used for communications purposes and conducting surveys.
The personal data aggregated through supplier and stakeholder communications and other interactions may be used for evaluating needs for business enhancement as well as for improvement of Stora Enso’s products, services and tools.

Additionally, Stora Enso processes personal data to ensure visitors’ safety and its facilities’ and premises’ security against misuses, thefts or unauthorized accesses. Stora Enso may also need to process personal data in order to ensure the security and functionality and to track the usage of the Stora Enso IT systems and on-line services.

In limited cases (usually when required by local laws), Stora Enso may need to request consent for certain specific data collection or processing. Such consent can be at any time cancelled by you by using technological means or contacting Stora Enso in accordance with section 11.

4 Content of the Register

The personal data Stora Enso may collect and process within the supplier registers includes the following personal data categories:

Stora Enso does not collect data relating to sex life or sexual orientation, race, disability, ethnic or social origin, genetic or other biometric features, religion or belief, political or economic or societal opinion (notwithstanding situations where such information is related to the persons societal or economic public role and the information can be regarded as public by the respective individual himself/herself) or membership of a national minority, unless this is required by law or necessary in order to fulfil a legal obligation that Stora Enso is subject to.

Furthermore, Stora Enso does not collect data relating to your health except in units where health care services are provided to you through company owned health care functions. In some rare cases health information may be inferred from the diet information you have given in connection with an event registration.

Stora Enso takes into account applicable local legislation when collecting personal data and ensures that personal data is always limited to information necessary for the said purposes as described in section 3.

5 Regular Sources of Information

Personal data is primarily collected directly from you or aggregated through the communications and other co-operation Stora Enso has with the you. Another typical source of information are the companies and other legal entities you represent as well as the web pages of these entities. Stora Enso may collect personal data also from other reliable public sources or third parties, such as the trade registers and industry databases.
6
Data Retention

Stora Enso manages the personal data within the supplier and stakeholder register and regularly deletes and corrects unnecessary and outdated data when the supplier relationship or other communications between you and Stora Enso are active. After the relationship between you and Stora Enso becomes passive, Stora Enso retains the personal data for pre-defined time periods. These time periods have been defined based on Stora Enso’s genuine needs and the legislative requirements Stora Enso is subject to. As a ground rule, personal data that is not subject to any statutory retention requirements shall be deleted from the Supplier and Stakeholder Register after ten years of passive retention, when the supply or other relationship between Stora Enso and you has ended. For more information regarding the retention times, please contact Stora Enso in accordance with section 11.

Regular Data Disclosures

Personal data from the supplier and stakeholder registers is disclosed to Stora Enso’s auditors, insurance companies and different governmental authorities/agencies (or similar) for the purposes of their regulatory tasks. When necessary, personal data may be disclosed to selected third parties e.g. to facilitate delivery management. All parties are allowed to process the data only to the extent necessary to manage tasks or provide the service that has been agreed with Stora Enso.

Personal data may be also disclosed to other companies within the Stora Enso company group for purposes compatible with the processing purposes defined in Section 3 of this Privacy Notice.

Certain data processing activities may be outsourced to carefully selected third party service providers (such as IT service providers, marketing service companies, consultants) in which case such third-party processors operate on behalf of Stora Enso under a specific data processing agreement.

8
Data Transfers from EU/EEA

Some of the entities who receive personal data from Stora Enso or to whom Stora Enso has outsourced personal data processing functions are located outside of European Union and/or European Economic Area. In such situations, Stora Enso ensures that sufficient level of data protection is maintained with appropriate safeguards, e.g. by signing the EU Commission’s model clauses with the party receiving the data. The Stora Enso group’s internal data transfers are governed with a contractual framework based on the EU Commission’s model clauses.

For more information regarding transfer of personal data to such third countries, please contact Stora Enso in accordance with section 11.

Data Security

Personal data in Stora Enso's IT systems are protected against unauthorized access with various information security measures. Each user has a personal user ID and password for entering the systems and access to personal data is granted only to persons who need the access in order to fulfill the tasks and duties relating to their role with and within Stora Enso.

Additionally, Stora Enso and its service providers are actively monitoring the confidentiality, integrity and availability of the IT environment and have implemented technical measures to prevent and detect incidents that may threaten any personal data.

The security of personal data is also ensured when transferring or disclosing the data to other processors. The measures employed vary based on the sensitivity of the data and includes e.g. identification of authorized recipients and encryption.
