Turn a page for lower environmental impact

With BriteBook you can make the same book you are making today with less paper tonnes. This is not only more cost-efficient, it's also the smart environmental choice. On top of that, BriteBook offers EU Ecolabel, FSC® and PEFC™ chain of custody certifications.

Circular by nature

At Stora Enso we do everything to make sure that the renewable raw material used in our book papers can be used for as long as possible, recycled as many times as possible, and utilised in the best way once it can't be recycled any more.

Say hi to a lighter, brighter paper for books

Looking for an alternative to wood-free paper for your printing? BriteBook is an uncoated mechanical paper developed especially with educational books in mind, but it can be used whenever you need a bright, white and light paper.

- Offers savings up to 30% in paper costs compared with a wood-free alternative.
- Less tonnes of paper can be used for same print area.
- Efficient use of natural raw materials.
- Suitable for coldset web offset (CSWO), heatset web offset (HSWO), sheet-fed and Inkjet printing methods.

Save costs with lighter books

Why use a heavier paper than necessary? BriteBook is a high bulk paper that offers great printability as well as better opacity at low grammages compared to wood-free alternatives. This means lower weight for the same amount of pages in your book, resulting in lower costs as well as environmental benefits.

Why choose BriteBook?

- Cost savings
- Lighter weight for the same thickness
- High brightness and opacity
