

Biodiversity management practices in tree plantations

Protecting biodiversity

Plantations are designed and managed in local land-use context. Landscape typically consists of a mosaic of areas for both intensive wood production and biodiversity conservation.

